

No. Freemasonry doesn't offer a means to salvation or specific teachings about the nature of God. It's no more a religion than the Boy Scouts (which also uses prayer in its meetings) or the court system (which also uses the Bible).